December Meeting – is 17th

After the suggestion last month that we would like to move the December meeting forwards a week to the 10th, it transpires that the Guides who used to meet on the 3rd Monday too have moved their meetings to the 2nd Monday so they can have the large hall.

This means that we won't be able to move to the earlier date this year, sorry, I did ask.

Thankfully I don't think the normal meeting date of the 17th is too close to Christmas.

London Plastic Model Show – Sunday 2nd December

We have tables booked at the London Plastic Model Show, Haverstock School, Haverstock Road, Camden, London NW3 2BQ.

I know Allen Roffey is keen as he booked the space, is anyone else going?

New Club Display Cloths

I've now got the cloth from Carmel and should be enough to give us 4 x double table runs and 2 x single tables too. I propose not rushing to get these ready for Telford show. I'll bring the cloth with me for December meeting and we can get some tables out to accurately measure the lengths required.

Regis Auckland from Guideline Publications Has Died

It is with much sadness that Guideline Publications announces the death of its company chairman, Regis Auckland, after a long illness.

Regis had been with Guideline from the beginning and, although not a modeller himself, he soon became a popular figure within the hobby both in the United Kingdom and in Europe. Regis began his career as a printer and more than thirty years ago established a print company, Regal Litho, with his long-time friend and business partner, Alan Corkhill. Together they saw the business opportunity in purchasing Scale Aircraft Modelling and later Military Modelcraft International and transformed the company and its stable of magazines and books into the market leader.

In the early years of Guideline Regis took the lead, attending shows, commissioning authors and really getting a feel for the hobby. In all his dealings, both business and personal, Regis was a true gentleman and his wry sense of humour and sound business sense saw the company through good times and bad. In recent years, other business interests and ill health meant Regis's involvement in day-to-day running of Guideline Publications lessened, but his experience and sage advice was always welcome.

Regis had recently married Wendy, making plans for their retirement in Scotland, and he will be very much missed as a husband, father and friend. All of us at Guideline Publications send our sincere condolences to Wendy and his family.

Reg attended many of the Southern Expo until his recent ill-health stopped him, he was always a pleasure to work with.
